

FOR ACCOUNTANCY & ADVISORY LEADERS

Faster routine work. Judgement kept in the room.

For partners and managers in accountancy and advisory firms: use AI to move faster on the routine work, and keep your judgement exactly where clients value it.

Designed for leaders. Beyond day-to-day skills, you'll build the understanding to see what AI means for your role, your people and your business model — and develop your own AI vision and action plan for the firm.

WHERE IT HELPS, DAY TO DAY

- Client prep — brief yourself on a client, sector or filing in minutes, not hours.
- Research — get to the relevant guidance, precedents and the right questions faster.
- Drafting — first drafts of letters, summaries and reports, in your firm's voice.
- Internal knowledge-sharing — turn what your best people know into something the whole team can use.

Judgement stays in the room

AI is good at the first 80% — gathering, structuring, drafting. The advice, the caveats and the call still come from you. A lesson speeds up the routine so there's more time for the judgement clients actually pay for — with clear lines on what to keep off these tools.

Taught and advised leaders at Google, Microsoft, SAP, Adobe and Vodafone. Writing on AI in Fast Company and The Guardian.
