

FOR LEADERS · 1-TO-1 COACHING

Practical AI lessons for leaders

Calm, practical one-to-one coaching, built around your real work — not another tool demo. You'll get confident with AI, and see clearly what it means for you and your business.

Designed for leaders — not just users

Yes, you'll gain practical skills. But more importantly, you'll build a genuine understanding of AI: how it is changing your role, your people, and your business model. From there, you develop your own AI vision and a clear action plan for the business.

WHO IT'S FOR

Leaders, founders, and solo operators — short on time and done with the hype. No experience needed; lessons meet you exactly where you are.

WHAT HAPPENS IN A SESSION

One-to-one, shaped around your tools, tasks and the decisions in front of you. We start with your real work, not a standard syllabus — online, at your office, or at a co-working space.

WHAT YOU LEAVE WITH

- A genuine understanding of AI, not just tool know-how
- A clear view of its impact on your role, team and business model
- Your own AI vision and a practical action plan
- Hands-on skills and habits you can use straight away

THREE WAYS LEADERS PUT IT TO WORK

01

Lighten a recurring task

Turn a report or board update into a faster, repeatable workflow that still sounds like you.

02

Pressure-test a decision

Use AI for research and synthesis, then bring your own judgement to the call that matters.

03

Get to a strong first draft

From blank page to a draft worth editing — in your voice, in minutes rather than hours.

“Patrick’s clarity and depth kickstarted our AI response, helping leadership not only see further but plan.”

Gaynor Finlay · Marketing leader

Patrick Hussey has taught and advised leaders at Google, Microsoft, SAP, Adobe and Vodafone. His writing on AI has appeared in Fast Company and The Guardian.
