

FOR WEALTH & PLANNING LEADERS

Faster prep and research. Advice still yours.

For principals and advisers in wealth and financial planning firms: use AI to move faster on the routine work, and keep the judgement and relationships clients value.

Designed for leaders. Beyond day-to-day skills, you'll build the understanding to see what AI means for your role, your people and your business model - and develop your own AI vision and action plan for the firm.

WHERE IT HELPS, DAY TO DAY

- Meeting prep - brief yourself on a client's situation and goals in minutes.
- Research - get to the relevant products, rules and the right questions faster.
- Suitability & letters - first drafts of suitability notes and client letters, in your voice.
- Internal knowledge-sharing - turn what your best planners know into something the team can use.

Judgement stays in the room

AI is good at the first 80% - the prep, the research, the drafting. The advice, the suitability call and the relationship still come from you. A lesson speeds up the routine so there's more time for the judgement clients actually pay for - with clear lines on what to keep off these tools and how to stay compliant.

Taught and advised leaders at Google, Microsoft, SAP, Adobe and Vodafone. Writing on AI in Fast Company and The Guardian.
